COMMUNION MEDITATION

“HOW CHRIST TRANSFORMS OUR LIVES” John 2:1-11

Those who have difficulty with the miracles of Jesus have special difficulty with this one, the changing of water into wine at the wedding in Cana of Galilee. The best suggestion I know for at least a partial overcoming of this difficulty is to regard the episode as an acted parable and so to interpret it. This same approach seems profitable also in interpreting the episode of the cursing of the unfruitful fig tree in the Gospel of Matthew (21:19).

It is significant in the first place that Jesus was present at a Wedding Feast, this being one demonstration that he was not a recluse or ascetic, but chose to involve himself in the happiness as well as in the misery of people. His opponents called him for this reason a “winebibber and a glutton.”

This miracle teaches us that for us the Living Christ is a transforming power, changing colorless life into radiance and strength. Through him Judaism is transformed into Christianity, the commonplace is transmuted into beauty and glory, poverty is transcended and blessed, suffering becomes a means of grace, Simon becomes Peter, Saul becomes St. Paul, John Wesley moves up from anxious priest to flaming preacher of the Gospel, and many of us have moved from bondage into glorious freedom.

"OPENNESS THROUGH BROKENNESS"

"You do not know what manner of spirit you are of, for the Son of man came not to destroy men's lives, but to save them."

Luke 9:55, 56.

Certain of the Apostles had just requested permission of Jesus to bid fire come down upon a village of Samaritans whose inhabitants had forbidden them passage. Even heaven itself would thus be called upon to sanction and defend their age old prejudice against the Samaritans and to defend the Jewish side of the feud. This old device of using even one's religion to support one's evil is still in common practice among us.

That the device is often hidden even from the user himself is indicated by the words of Jesus, "You do not know what manner of spirit you are of." So, it seems, sometimes our piety as well as our pride actually conceals our prejudices even from ourselves. The demonic slips in in angelic disguise. The old categories of liberal and conservative seem to have lost their focus. It is also difficult to define the moderate. New categories for the Christian mind seem to be needed. High on the list, doubtless, should be openness of mind and spirit. The closed mind is a denial of truth and a protection of prejudice.

But so firmly fixed is closedness of mind with some of us that we make it a matter of principle never to change our minds. Something deeper than logic seems to be called for. Something in the nature of a new evangelical conversion is demanded. For some of us openness of mind can only be realized through brokenness of heart.

"LOST IN THE GAPS"

"Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of my Father who is in heaven." Matthew 7:21.

We seem to be living in the age of gaps, widely prevalent and deeply threatening. The so-called generation gap is getting the biggest play, especially in popular attention, most of us forgetting that we have always had this one with us.

The most damaging gap of all among us today is the confidence gap, which is really the deep current substance of the generation gap. But it is much more extensive than this and is operative in many relationships, as between the governed and the governors, as between the grass roots and the hierarchy, as between pupil and teacher, and so on.

It is a worthwhile exercise to view one's self on one side and then the other in the working of the confidence gap, to enter alternately the role of challenger and challenged, of rebel and member of the establishment.

We must bridge this gap, for confidence is the cement which holds us together. The reconciling ministry of Christianity comes directly into play here. Let us think on this great responsibility.

Sermon Preview

"CHOOSE YOUR REVOLUTION"

"These men who have turned the world upside down have come here also." Acts 17:6.

The early Christians certainly made an impression upon people wherever they lived and witnessed. This startling description of Paul and Silas by their opponents at Thessalonica is one instance of many such.

Christians are people who turn the world upside down! Perhaps some of us, considering all the disturbances going on about us, would prefer Christians who turn the world right side up. In any case the avoidance of involvement seems impossible, and is certainly not Christian. Our Lord was a participant in the ongoing life of his day, and seems to expect us to go and do likewise.

But everything seems so messy and confused. Also threatening to us in our accustomed ways of life. Some of us would really like to slam on the brakes. Or perhaps throw things into reverse in hopes of regaining the good old days. But we don't seem able to stop all this revolution business. It could be that we might exercise some influence toward determining the outcome. We are told that not to choose is to choose, and may even be what some call counter-revolutionary.

Choose your revolution! One live option still is certainly the Christian revolution. Some of us believe that in the long course of history this will be the winner. Some have called it the kingdom of God.

Eternal God, who pitieth them that fear thee even as a father pitieth his children, we bow before thee in humility and penitence, acknowledging our proneness to wrongdoing and beseeching thee to look with mercy upon us. We know that we are more ready to serve thee with our words than with our deeds. We confess that we have sometimes chosen darkness rather than light. We realize our frailty and look to thee for strengthening grace. Watch over us and keep us ever in thy care, we pray; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

On man Thy wisdom hath bestowed a pow'r well nigh divine;
With honor Thou hast crowned his head with glory like to Thine.

O Lord, our Lord, in all the earth how excellent Thy Name!
