COMMUNION MEDITATION

“THE REAL PRESENCE”

“Pity the poor Protestants at their Holy Communion, for there they have no Real Presence as we have at our Mass.” Thus spoke a non-Protestant of our Sacrament of the Lord’s Supper. The statement seems sympathetic in its criticism, and possibly condescending in its misunderstanding.

Although the Lord’s Supper is the oldest and most characteristic cult form of Christianity, it is unfortunately the area of many of the deepest disagreements among Christians. Interpretations run the range from the simple Memorial Service to the High Mass where the bread and wine are transubstantiated, or miraculously transformed into the body and blood of Christ. Our position is somewhere in between these extremes.

The real question is the “Real Presence.” We believe that God is indeed everywhere present in the world he has created, especially present in the receptive spirits of men. Thus we believe that life itself is sacramental, and that God is always ready to mediate his spiritual presence to us. Because of its place in our Lord’s life and work, in the Bible, and in our Christian tradition, the Service of Holy Communion becomes a primary experience of worship and a wonderful means of grace to us.

Jesus died on Calvary's mountain, long time ago, and salvation's rolling fountain now freely flows.

Once His voice in tones of pity melted in woe,
and He wept o'er Judah's city, long time ago.

On His head the dews of midnight fell long ago.

Now a crown of dazzling sunlight rests on his brow.

Jesus died, yet lives forever, no more to die.

Holy Jesus, blessed Savior, now reigns on high.

Children, let your lights be burning, in hope of heav'n, waiting for our Lord's returning at dawn of ev'n.

When He comes a voice from heaven shall pierce the tomb,
"Come, ye blessed of my Father, Children, come home."

NOYE'S FLUDDE

Noye's Fludde by Benjamin Britten will be performed in Trinity's Sanctuary on November 9, at 2:30 and 7:30 P.M. Like the mediaeval Chester Miracle Plays, after which this musical production is patterned, this will be a community effort with university musicians, choir children from several churches, and others from Tallahassee participating. Along with several of Trinity's singers, Mrs. James will be organist and the Youth Handbell Choir will play in the performance. The congregation will also assist in the singing of several familiar hymns, such as "Lord Jesus, Think on Me."

During the performance God will call upon Noah (Noye) to build the ark, which he will proceed to do, using "borde and tree and pyne." The animals (represented by the childrens' choirs) will be brought on board, the great storm will come causing the flood (fludde), to be followed finally by the flight of the dove, and God's promise "With watter, while this worlde shall leste, I will noe more spill." No admission charge will be made, and Trinity's families are urged to plan this dramatic representation of a great Old Testament story into next Sunday's (May 9) activities.

“QUALITY BEGINS AT HOME”

“My husband is unable to establish and sustain a relationship of quality with any other human being.” So spoke a distraught wife to her pastor on her way to the courthouse to make legal the deep brokenness of her marriage.

The key phrase in her devastating evaluation of the husband is “relationship of quality.” We live in relationships with many people and at many levels. We are tested frequently, especially in employment situations, on how well we are “able to relate” with fellow employees and with employers. In no other relationship is quality of more importance than in marriage and family life.

The basics of Christian ethics feed directly and dynamically into the high task of achieving quality at home. These basics include a recognition of the worth of all persons, a recognition we seek to apply in the larger area of human relations. Surely it applies at home. Quality here is destroyed, as everywhere, by the exploitative personality, who brings to the relationship disrespect, thoughtlessness, negligence, and sometimes cruelty.

Perhaps “quality in relationships” in larger human relations awaits its realization in our homes.

"EVERYTHING IN COMMON"

"All whose faith had drawn them together held everything in common: they would sell their property and possessions and make a general distribution as the need of each required."

Acts 2:45 (NEB)

It may shock some of us to learn that the earliest Christians practiced a form of communism. Not the Marxist kind, to be sure, but a simpler form of sharing which proceeded from their faith which "had drawn them together." The sharing of material possessions was a direct and practical consequence of their spiritual transformation.

It seems always true that real togetherness functions best in small self-conscious groups. Individuals in a despised minority cling to each other. Those who are not afraid to be peculiar in the marks of their commitment draw strength from others of like persuasion. The living remnant seems to be one of the Lord's ways of implementing his will in history.

How deeply we need each other! The Church, the Body of Christ, is intended to bring us together at the deepest levels of our lives. We are primarily tested on how well we succeed in this. This is the true koinonia.

No doubt about it, the renewal of the Church at large begins in our hearts and first works its way in our local churches. There is a world togetherness of Christians, a true ecumenism, but it is empty unless its substance roots inwardly in individuals and locally in our parishes.

“WE TOO ARE EVANGELICALS!”

Methodist people throughout the world mark May 24, 1738, as the date of John Wesley's evangelical conversion. His own story of this memorable event serves best as an aid to our remembrance and celebration.

“About a quarter before nine, while (someone was reading Luther's Epistle to the Romans) he was describing the change which God works in the heart through faith in Christ, I felt my heart strangely warmed. I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone for salvation; and an assurance was given me, that he had taken away my sins, even mine and saved me from the law of sin and death.”

What is evangelical Christianity? Is it essentially New Testament based? How well does the pattern of a Church truly reformed, truly evangelical and truly catholic fit together as to its parts?

"LESS THAN THE BEST"

"Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?" "No, we have never even heard that there is a Holy Spirit."
Acts 19:2

The question is St. Paul's, addressed to a small group of believers at Ephesus who had been converted under the preaching of Apollos. Their reply reveals that their understanding and experience in Christian life were somewhat less than the fullest available. Hence they had begun at a reductionist level. The apostle immediately corrected this and re-baptized them in the name of the Lord Jesus. When he laid his hands upon them "the Holy Spirit came on them and they spoke with tongues and prophesied."

Although we modern Christians cannot say that we "have never even heard that there is a Holy Spirit," since we sing trinitarian hymns and recite trinitarian creeds regularly, we do have our own ways to reductionism in our Christian beliefs and commitment. And one of these is a form of unitarianism, usually disguised as religious sophistication of some sort.

One of the avenues to the enrichment of Christian faith is that of the appreciation of the experience and doctrine of the Holy Trinity. One way toward this enrichment is our observation of Pentecost.
