BEING PRACTICAL ABOUT WILLS

Some people may consider the will an instrument of the rich. Since their possessions are small to moderate, they do not bother. Yet, if you consider the value of some of the small things you own, the total sum may be larger than you think. When you make your will, you write a testament to the people around you that you cared for them even at death. You say to them in a tangible way . . . "I care, and have evidenced it by providing for you."

You make your will because you love those near and dear to you. You don't want to leave their future in the hands of the probate judge, who must, to remain true to his calling, carry out to the letter the demands of the law.

These demands can mean limited funds for your wife and children — unnecessary taxes, costs of posting bond, perhaps long delays in settling the estate. More than one widow did not have full access to family property because the court had to look after the interests of the minor children, holding in reserve a large percent of the estate until the children were of age. These funds were desperately needed at the time and in the ensuing years to care for her children, to provide for health and educational needs.

Usually, husbands never intended their widows to experience such entanglements and red tape. It was just "one small thing" they never got around to.

What a difference it would have made if these husbands had only realized the state-made will (the laws applying to the settlement of estates where there is no will) would not fulfill their wishes. These laws have to be of such a broad general nature that they cannot meet specific situations.

There is another job a state-made will cannot perform — that is, making a gift in your name to Christian work, no matter what your giving patterns while you lived.

Many Christians want to make their final gift to God through their wills. How tragic it is when good intentions are unfulfilled. Every week thousands of dollars pass through the courts from the estates of people who have died without wills, who had intended for part of their funds to go to worthy charitable services. They never found the few hours needed to prepare a will.

Having an attorney draw up the will is the wisest plan and is not an expensive process in most cases. There are several ways to make a bequest to your church. You can name a specific amount. You can name a percentage of the estate. (Many Christians like to consider titling their estates, as a final gift to God.) You can leave the residue.

Some people are not able to name a worthy cause for a part of the estate because of their responsibility to dependents. However, they are willing to include a charitable cause as the second or final beneficiary. (It is not uncommon for a will to be probated in which all the named beneficiaries have died.)

There are many Methodist related institutions worthy of at least a tithe of your will, Trinity United Methodist Church in particular. Some others are the Florida United Methodist Children's Home, Florida Southern College, and Bethune-Cookman College.

Say, "I care."

INTRODUCING OUR SUMMER LEADERSHIP TEAM

Trinity Youth Ministry introduces our four college students who are working in the summer under an educational scholarship program.

Patsy Crotty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crotty, is a sophomore at Florida State University. A member of the F.S.U. Women's Glee Club, Patsy served last year at Leesburg and Brandon, Florida, in the Conference Camping program as a counselor. She is working with senior high drama, physical fun for girls, elementary craft program, assisting in direction of the senior high choir and leading in other special U.M.Y.F. programs.

Betty Batey, the second member of the team, is from Coral Gables, Florida. A member of the First United Methodist Church there, she is a Trinity affiliate member and sings regularly in our Chancel Choir. Betty has held many youth offices in her home church and is currently working with our Junior High U.M.Y.F. program and elementary crafts as well as co-ordinating a Tuesday evening Bible Study for youth. A senior in English Education at Florida State University, Betty is president of the women's service sorority, Gamma Sigma Sigma, and a member of Garnet Key and Mortar Board.

David Walsh, the third member of our summer leadership team, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Walsh. Having worked in many phases of the Trinity Youth program, David is currently the director of the "Ark," the Friday "Coffee House" for senior high youth. He is working closely with our Junior Highs and specifically planning to initiate a Saturday evening "Ark" for Junior Highs. Working with Mrs. Rubie Butterworth, he is helping to plan a summer day camp for fifth and sixth grades at historic Pisgah Church. He is working with elementary crafts and organizing and updating the church school rolls and records. David plans to enter Tallahassee Community College this fall.

Mary Ann Hilaman, the final member of our summer team, is a graduate of Leon High School in January and is a freshman majoring in secretarial science at Tallahassee Community College. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Hilaman, she has arranged "Morning Over Breakfast," a Wednesday discussion for youth with outstanding guest speakers. Assisting in drama group for the summer, her chief responsibility is with Senior High U.M.Y.F.

Get to know these fine youth leaders and their talents this summer!

TO WHOM TRIBUTE IS DUE

Trinity Church is strong because of its many faithful members. High among these, and representative of the very best, have been for thirty-five years O. B. and Lynna Thompson. As O. B. and Lynna go soon to complete their retirement years among relatives in Alabama, it is most fitting that we speak to them and to all who know them words of appreciation.

Since becoming members of Trinity in 1938, O. B. and Lynna have an amazing record of service and faithfulness. O. B. has been a member of the Administrative Board or of other official groups continuously for many years. Among his duties quietly and efficiently performed have been a long time service as Church School Treasurer and for a shorter time Church Treasurer. Lynna for some time worked as Church Secretary and in this service developed an acquaintance with Trinity's membership unequaled among us. This knowledge has been of great help to Trinity's ministers in their pastoral care of the membership. Lynna has also served in many places of official leadership in the Church, especially in areas of parish concern and in care of Sanctuary and Chapel.

Beyond these services rendered, and even more important, have been the personal qualities quietly manifested among us by O. B. and Lynna. To an assortment of pastors they have been loyal to everyone of them. In good times and bad they have been steadfast and hopeful. To all in distress and illness they have been encouraging and helpful. They have indeed been among us as very "salt of the earth."

As O. B. and Lynna leave this church and community, we assure them of our sincere appreciation, bestow upon them our warm affection, and promise them our sustaining prayers, in the sure and unfailing knowledge that at all times and in all places we are together in the care and guidance of our Eternal Father.

LITANY ON THE WILL OF GOD Minister and Congregation

Jesus said: "Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of my Father who is in heaven. I have come not to do my will, but the will of him who sent me."

It is the will of God:

To gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven and which are on earth.

That we should show forth his praises who called us out of the darkness into his marvelous light.

That we should believe in him and love him with all our heart, with all our mind, with all our soul, and with all our strength.

That we should worship him and put our whole trust in him all the days of our life.

Lord, have mercy upon us, and incline our hearts to do thy will.

Jesus said: "You are the salt of the earth, but if salt has lost its taste, how shall its saltiness be restored?"

It is the will of God:

That we should endeavor to keep our bodies in health and strength, and our appetites and impulses under control, and everywhere and in all things be temperate and pure.

That we should train our minds to be true in our thinking and just in all our judging.

That we should be honest, truthful, and upright in thought, word, and deed.

That we should be diligent and faithful in our several callings, doing our daily work in all simplicity and integrity, and laboring only for the things which are just and good.

That speaking the truth in love, we should grow up together in all things unto him who is the head of the body, even Christ.

Lord, have mercy upon us, and incline our hearts to do thy will.

Jesus said: "You are the light of the world. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven."

It is the will of God:

That we should not be anxious for the morrow, nor for our life, what we shall eat or what we shall drink, nor for the body what we shall put on.

That we should rule our spirits, bear with each other's infirmities, and, as much as in us lies, live peaceably with all men.

That we should live chiefly to minister to others' needs and not to seek only our own pleasure and gain.

That we should do what we can to take away the sin and sorrow of the world and to overcome evil with good.

Lord, have mercy upon us, and incline our hearts to do thy will.

Let us unite in prayer for grace to do God's will.

O Lord, we beseech thee mercifully to receive our prayers; and grant that we may both perceive and know what things we ought to do, and also may have grace and power faithfully to fulfill the same; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

CHEAP CHURCH?

What kind of church would it be where the forgiveness of God was preached with no repentance required?

What kind of church could offer baptism without disciplines of preparation or follow-up whatsoever?

Who would flock to a Christian Church which advertised communion without confession?

How far could preachers go today pronouncing release from sin without requiring personal confession?

What kind of grace and love of God has no corresponding responsibility in the life of the one who accepts it?

Is it to be "taken for granted" that the Christian today lives only among "friends"?

Sadly, doing the church "thing" today is as different as night and day when we compare the "doing of one's own thing." A lot of people in the church today are doing just that, though: "their own thing." What happened to God in last year's budget? In this year's program? Are we "doing our own thing" and recklessly running in with a phrase "in the name of Christ" tacked on at the end or in the middle some place?

Cheap churchmen shudder at being required to really think through the "God bit," and yet that is precisely what we're called to do—be reasonable and realistic and responsible about what we were created to be and to do in response to God who loves.

Stand up and be counted! Write a letter to your preacher after you have thought through who you are and whose you are. Tell him what kind of church you'd like to see and why. Be honest. Changes can be made where necessary, believe it or not! Be responsible by citing specific ways you see yourself helping in the needed change. Your preacher may just take you seriously. The budget may be altered to reflect your suggestions. Think hard; Pray hard, then, make your observations.

Who knows, doing God's thing and doing your thing may become one in the name! Then, I'll bet—no "cheap" church here!

THE MANNEQUIN SMILES

It was about 5:30 and she couldn't sleep a second more. Old age was getting to her! She went out to get the morning paper off the front steps of the little apartment she had taken all these years since he had died. The children had called, but how she had wished they'd spent part of their vacation with her and trim those high, overgrown bushes in the front.

She didn't see the paper. Guess the little boy didn't want to get up early to get the papers out, she thought. Back into the kitchen and a cup of coffee. Sitting down to wait for the water to boil she looked at the price going up on the can and wondered if she really had paid that much for the stuff. What was she to do if prices continued to climb?

Then it hit her. Another day in the city...another day to try to make it through. What can I do to use up the time today, she asked herself? Go to the grocery store? No, that, with the cab fee would wreck the budget, and the social security check does not come for two more weeks...anyway, the clerks are so impersonal, and I don't want to run into that young man I complained about the meat to the other day...and besides, I have enough to last for awhile. Wish I had space for a garden, but no sense thinking about that, here in this concrete compound.

What shall I do? What can I do? The water began to boil. Guess I'll just dress and go down town and see what they are going to put on sale. Can't get anything, but at least it will get me out of these four walls. Wish some of those "nice" people up at the church would just realize my situation, here in these four walls. Doesn't seem like they could fail to get the message the preacher told them yesterday about thinking of someone besides self once in a while. Doesn't anybody care about me? You'd think some of those church people would.

Oh, well, I can't sit here. It makes me nervous, to think nobody really cares. Then these people in this apartment house I hardly know and am afraid to get to know here, don't they care? Oh, well, no sense just sitting here worrying; just drink my coffee and go down town.

Looks like it's going to rain. But just look at those people waiting for that bus. You'd think they had as little to look forward to as I. Wish they'd pave these sidewalks better for us "older citizens." They talk lots about helping us, but when? Does anybody care?

Fortunately, while waiting for the stores to open later on Main Street, she saw a mannequin smile.
